Kirloskar Group has instituted an Energy Conservation Award to encourage implementation of initiatives for reducing energy consumption per unit of production. Each manufacturing plant has to work on initiatives related to reduction of energy consumption and reduction of consumption of resources like water and raw material. This reduction is directly linked to cost reduction initiatives for improving the competitiveness and deliver value for money. KEPL has developed a comprehensive Environment, Health and Safety (EHS) Policy. This policy describes the commitment of our company to protect the environment through prevention of pollution and conservation of energy. It also stipulates compliance to all environmental norms and conservation of natural resources like water, oil, wood and other raw materials.
